

The Captain Cook ENCYCLOPÆDIA

THE ULTIMATE REFERENCE WORK
ON THE LIFE, VOYAGES AND
DISCOVERIES OF BRITAIN'S GREATEST
NAVIGATOR AND EXPLORER

THIS NEW ENCYCLOPÆDIA aims to provide answers on all aspects of the life and voyages of Captain James Cook, and the people, places, events and ships associated with the great explorer. Researched and written by leading Cook experts, it both reflects the traditional views of Cook while incorporating the latest reassessments, especially noting the attitudes of the peoples of the Pacific on whose lives Cook made such an impact.

The discoveries from and about Cook's voyages have found their way into nearly all subjects across the spectrum of knowledge; astronomy and science, religion and music, art and ethnology, botany and linguistics, literature and zoology are all involved and covered here, while the range of people playing a part is as varied as it is colourful and includes, amongst others, the Marquis de Sade, Thomas Bowdler, Edmund Burke, the Earl of Sandwich, David Lean, Marie Antoinette, Jean Jacques Rousseau, and Captain James Kirk from Star Trek. Cook himself and his life are presented against his humble background in northeast England and, later, the Seven Years War, the Royal Society, and the Enlightenment. With this wide-ranging approach, the book is a superb window into the whole world of eighteenth-century maritime life, exploration and discovery.

Cook was a man who liked facts and there are facts a plenty here, arranged in alphabetical entries which are fully cross-referenced, and each subject is accorded enough length for proper discussion. The book concludes with appendices, a full chronology of Cook's life and a bibliography for those wanting to pursue the subject further.

This encyclopaedic and wide-ranging approach to the subject sets out to cater both for persons with little knowledge of Cook, approaching him for the first time, and for others, more expert, who need to find the answer to particular points. In short, it is an essential reference work for anyone with an interest in Cook and the world he explored.

ROBSON

The Captain Cook ENCYCLOPÆDIA

JACKET ILLUSTRATIONS:

Main picture, 'HMS Resolution and Adventure with fishing craft in Matavi Bay', from an oil painting by William Hodges.
Portrait of Captain James Cook, by Nathaniel Dance.
Chart of New Zealand.
A man of New Zealand.
(All Courtesy the National Maritime Museum, London).
The replica Endeavour (Courtesy Jenny Bennett)

Printed in China

RANDOM HOUSE AUSTRALIA

ISBN 0-7593-1011-4

9 780759 310117

The Captain Cook ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Written and Edited by
JOHN ROBSON

THE AUTHOR

John Robson was born at Stockton-on-Tees in County Durham, in Captain Cook country. He became interested in Cook at a very early age and has maintained a passionate involvement ever since. He is now the Map Librarian at the University of Waikato in Hamilton. He is also president of the New Zealand Map Society, a member of the Captain Cook Society, the New Zealand representative for the Hakluyt Society and the author of the much-acclaimed cartographic work, Captain Cook's World.

CONTRIBUTORS

Vanessa Agnew, Professor, German Studies Faculty, University of Michigan Ann Arbor, USA
D. E. Anderson, Nuclear Engineer, Utility Executive (ret), Oakville, Ontario, Canada
Rosalin Barker, Hon Fellow, Institute for Learning, University of Hull, UK
Tim Beaglehole, Emeritus Professor, Victoria University of Wellington, NZ
Ian Boreham, Editor of Cook's Log, Journal of Captain Cook Society, Ipswich, UK
Julia Bruce, Editor of Newsletter, Society for the History of Natural History, UK
Jeremy Coote, Joint Head of Collections, Pitt Rivers Museum, Oxford, UK
Andrew David, Commander (ret) Royal Navy, Taunton, UK
Michael Goldsmith, Senior Lecturer Dept of Anthropology, University of Waikato, Hamilton, NZ
Adrienne Kaeppler, Curator (Oceania), Division of Ethnology, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC, USA
Pieter van der Merwe, Curator, National Maritime Museum, Greenwich, UK
Dr John Morris, Department of Gastroenterology, Princess of Wales Hospital, Bridgend, Wales, UK
John M Naish, PhD, MD, FRCP (lately Consultant Physician, Bristol, and Lecturer in Medicine, University of Bristol)
Dr Wayne Orchiston, Anglo-Australian Observatory, Epping, NSW, Australia
Alwyn Peel, Secretary of the Captain Cook Society, Dewsbury, UK
Julia Rae, Honorary Secretary, Stepney Historical Trust, London, UK
Tom Ryan, Senior Lecturer Dept of Anthropology, University of Waikato, Hamilton, NZ
Victor Suthren, ex-Director-General, Canadian War Museum (Ottawa), Canada
Clifford E Thornton, President of the Captain Cook Society
Christopher Ware, University of Greenwich, London, UK
Glyndwr Williams, Emeritus Professor of History, Queen Mary College, University of London, UK
Lawrence Worms, antiquarian book seller, Ash Rare Books, London, UK

The Captain Cook ENCYCLOPÆDIA

THE ULTIMATE REFERENCE WORK
ON THE LIFE, VOYAGES AND
DISCOVERIES OF BRITAIN'S GREATEST
NAVIGATOR AND EXPLORER

THIS NEW ENCYCLOPÆDIA aims to provide answers on all aspects of the life and voyages of Captain James Cook, and the people, places, events and ships associated with the great explorer. Researched and written by leading Cook experts, it both reflects the traditional views of Cook while incorporating the latest reassessments, especially noting the attitudes of the peoples of the Pacific on whose lives Cook made such an impact.

The discoveries from and about Cook's voyages have found their way into nearly all subjects across the spectrum of knowledge; astronomy and science, religion and music, art and ethnology, botany and linguistics, literature and zoology are all involved and covered here, while the range of people playing a part is as varied as it is colourful and includes, amongst others, the Marquis de Sade, Thomas Bowdler, Edmund Burke, the Earl of Sandwich, David Lean, Marie Antoinette, Jean Jacques Rousseau, and Captain James Kirk from Star Trek. Cook himself and his life are presented against his humble background in northeast England and, later, the Seven Years War, the Royal Society, and the Enlightenment. With this wide-ranging approach, the book is a superb window into the whole world of eighteenth-century maritime life, exploration and discovery.

Cook was a man who liked facts and there are facts a plenty here, arranged in alphabetical entries which are fully cross-referenced, and each subject is accorded enough length for proper discussion. The book concludes with appendices, a full chronology of Cook's life and a bibliography for those wanting to pursue the subject further.

This encyclopaedic and wide-ranging approach to the subject sets out to cater both for persons with little knowledge of Cook, approaching him for the first time, and for others, more expert, who need to find the answer to particular points. In short, it is an essential reference work for anyone with an interest in Cook and the world he explored.

RANDOM HOUSE
NEW ZEALAND

ROBSON

The Captain Cook ENCYCLOPÆDIA

The Captain Cook ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Written and Edited by
JOHN ROBSON

THE AUTHOR

John Robson was born at Stockton-on-Tees in County Durham, in Captain Cook country. He became interested in Cook at a very early age and has maintained a passionate involvement ever since. He is now the Map Librarian at the University of Waikato in Hamilton. He is also president of the New Zealand Map Society, a member of the Captain Cook Society, the New Zealand representative for the Hakluyt Society and the author of the much-acclaimed cartographic work, Captain Cook's World.

CONTRIBUTORS

Vanessa Agnew, Professor, German Studies Faculty, University of Michigan Ann Arbor, USA
D. E. Anderson, Nuclear Engineer, Utility Executive (ret), Oakville, Ontario, Canada
Rosalin Barker, Hon Fellow, Institute for Learning, University of Hull, UK
Tim Beaglehole, Emeritus Professor, Victoria University of Wellington, NZ
Ian Boreham, Editor of Cook's Log, Journal of Captain Cook Society, Ipswich, UK
Julia Bruce, Editor of Newsletter, Society for the History of Natural History, UK
Jeremy Coote, Joint Head of Collections, Pitt Rivers Museum, Oxford, UK
Andrew David, Commander (ret) Royal Navy, Taunton, UK
Michael Goldsmith, Senior Lecturer Dept of Anthropology, University of Waikato, Hamilton, NZ
Adrienne Kaeppler, Curator (Oceania), Division of Ethnology, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC, USA
Pieter van der Merwe, Curator, National Maritime Museum, Greenwich, UK
Dr John Morris, Department of Gastroenterology, Princess of Wales Hospital, Bridgend, Wales, UK
John M Naish, PhD, MD, FRCP (lately Consultant Physician, Bristol, and Lecturer in Medicine, University of Bristol)
Dr Wayne Orchiston, Anglo-Australian Observatory, Epping, NSW, Australia
Alwyn Peel, Secretary of the Captain Cook Society, Dewsbury, UK
Julia Rae, Honorary Secretary, Stepney Historical Trust, London, UK
Tom Ryan, Senior Lecturer Dept of Anthropology, University of Waikato, Hamilton, NZ
Victor Suthren, ex-Director-General, Canadian War Museum (Ottawa), Canada
Clifford E Thornton, President of the Captain Cook Society
Christopher Ware, University of Greenwich, London, UK
Glyndwr Williams, Emeritus Professor of History, Queen Mary College, University of London, UK
Lawrence Worms, antiquarian book seller, Ash Rare Books, London, UK

JACKET ILLUSTRATIONS:

Main picture, 'HMS Resolution and Adventure with fishing craft in Matavi Bay', from an oil painting by William Hodges.
Portrait of Captain James Cook, by Nathaniel Dance.
Chart of New Zealand.
A man of New Zealand.
(All Courtesy the National Maritime Museum, London).
The replica Endeavour (Courtesy Jenny Bennett)

Printed in China